Impossible Creatures is a crazy futuristic game where you have to create creatures which are to some other entities as dinosaurs are to birds. When these entities meet on the battlefield you must be smart enough to beat them. Even if you lose you will get to become a creature yourself and be able to reproduce with others. The game has 5 different biomes, each with its own creatures, gameplay rules, monsters, heroes and even narrative. The updates Important fixes: Steam client crashes on startup. Rationalisations in the combat system Loot has been adjusted in order to make it more balanced. Default difficulty setting is now modded for players who want to start playing with a more relaxed difficulty setting. AI: In order to have a smoother gameplay we made it so all AI encounters will restart after a certain amount of time if they do not react for a certain amount of time. This should make the game smoother and less frustrating. General Added level indicators which can be found in the top left corner of the screen Increased spawn limit from 50 to 100 in Jungle biomes. Added configurable vaults for saving precious artifacts from creatures attacks Vault lock now works with Spade, Sledgehammer and other non-magnetic weapon types Pressure plates now work as expected Hunt Menu is now properly unlocked when the fridge is spawned Fixes for certain encounter traps where they were not spawning the correctly and sometimes blocking other traps Multitouch support for modders The visual settings of Impossible Creatures can now be defined and saved for each user. These settings include the color of the player and the cub, the color of the blade, foreground and background of the blade, the foreground and background color of the environment, the spawn limit for monsters in the jungle biomes, predefined amount of artifacts to keep when you die, and whether you can repair artifacts you lost during battle (see FAQs for more details). Update Notes Patch 3 not only brought more bug fixes but adds Workshop support to Impossible Creatures. Together with the great possibilities of the SDK (even with full C++ support) and the mod tools now the highest level of mod support comes with IC. We hope to soon see some more great creations from the IC mod community! is now available on the iTunes Store. Check it out: - Before we continue, let's start by celebrating the BEST and the most amazing military wives on the planet. They are remarkable and amazing women that stood by their hubbies as they rolled around and did stupid stuff.

Not to be mentioned, are certain military wives that supply us with supply humor (if you don't already know about them, research "Fluffer's", "The Grumpy Hippie", "Little Black Costco" and "Larry the Purchasing Avoider"). Thank you, military wives, for choosing to stay by your man. We are such honor to meet you, and we would not be anything without you. I often refer to this story, it's had me laughing since I heard it over four months ago, and it was certainly a great lead-in for this report. Which is why I placed it up front. "Lilly" is a spouse of a Navy pilot that recently wrote to us at Military Spouse magazine about the impact of all of the war porn we get from the news, as well as the things in our own households. Since she gave us permission to quote her, I am going to refer you to her letter in its entirety (the original is on the Military.com website): "I'm a wife of a Navy pilot who is currently serving in Iraq. No, I didn't cheat on him. No, I don't call every now and then to check on him. No, I'm not able to explain why. I just happened to get him an e-mail account, and we discovered that he was matched with a local here. Our match name is [private], and he is an E-3 (enlisted). We've really gotten along so well that I was about to ask how long you guys were online, and how long you planned to stay married, when I realized that he was enlisted, so I figured I'd stay offline. I've really enjoyed getting to know you over the last couple of months since our match, too, since I found out that we had lots of common interests. I like to make people laugh, and it started right away when I discovered that he's a comic.

The most terrifying game in the world. The one, true, horror game. The one, true, horror game where you are given terrible decisions, terrible actions and have no other options. The one, true, horror game that will change the way you play... and think about everything. You begin the game in the small town of Whitemane. Whitemane is a town that has always been safe and seemingly sheltered from the evils of the outside world. Unfortunately for you, Whitemane is not as safe as you may think it is. The game begins as you try to survive a night in Whitemane. Who knows what will happen or what horrors the night will bring! Your decisions and actions will dictate your fate as well as the town's fate in the long run. So be careful what you wish for... Features: An original storyline based on the horrors of the real world A haunting and terrifying atmosphere Hard decisions that you would normally not be expected to make A range of creepy monsters to face Tons of crazy and disturbing locations A High Score Attack Mode Multiplayer Support Keeping the "big picture" in mind "Are you suffering from mother-in-law syndrome?" I asked my doctor. He gave me a knowing look. "You might want to have a look at your heart," he said. And I have. I have kept a close eye on my heart, this lifelong beauty. I exercise vigorously and lead a healthy lifestyle. But I didn't always. When I was a young bride I was a workaholic. But, like the heart, I had a "young" (newly created) heart. It was pumping blood much faster than the old heart, which was to be expected, but it was not working well. Everywhere you turned there was someone else seemingly more beautiful. You did everything you could to secure that elusive "perfect" heart. Every day you fought to make it better, which was more stressful than working a nine-to-five job. And still it was not perfect. Your heart would race. You felt uncomfortable in your body. You felt you had no clue what you were doing or how to do it right. You started to lose weight, which was not good for your heart. Eventually you sought a diagnosis. Heart failure is a condition that affects the heart's ability to pump blood
